Update on the Eugene Street Old Hospital

Since the fire on January 6th, the City has been working towards the abatement of the remaining materials on the old hospital property. The site has been secured with fencing and the Mt. Shasta Police Department has increased their patrols. Signage has been posted warning of the possibility of asbestos danger, and the City continues to work with the California Environmental Protection Agency and Infinity Environmental Services in Redding. An environmental survey has been conducted to determine the scope of the abatement project; results should be available by the end of next week. In the meantime, we continue to monitor the weather and ensure that the debris remains damp to prevent the possibility of any windborne disturbance. We are committed to the safety of the public and will continue to work towards the cleanup of this property.
